APPLICABILITY/ACCOUNTABILITY

This policy applies to all employees and, in limited situations as noted, students of the university. It is consistent with federal, state, and other laws that pertain to political and campaign activities.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

As a state university, it is imperative that UCF maintain its integrity and credibility in the public forum. This is particularly true of the political process and the manner in which university employees affect or are affected by activities such as lobbying, holding public office, or engaging in other political activities.

UCF faculty, staff and students may be asked by political candidates or campaigns to distribute campaign literature, post campaign signs, to join a candidate on campus for campaigning or to help organize a campaign event. Faculty, staff and students may also become a candidate for elected office. This policy addresses specific aspects of political activity involving actual or perceived university endorsements, campaign events, testifying before a governmental entity, running for public office and participating in appointed public service.

DEFINITIONS

Government entity. Any state, federal, or local governing or advisory body composed of elected or governmentally appointed officials, or any quasi-public body that holds recognized authority.
POLICY STATEMENT

including lobbying and political solicitation of any kind. As individuals, UCF employees are encouraged to support candidates or issues of their choice and participate in the democratic process as a privilege of citizenship, but they must not in any way associate these activities as formal representation or endorsement by the university which could, among other consequences, endanger the university’s status as a tax-exempt entity under the Internal Revenue Code.

Prohibited Political Activities
UCF employees are prohibited from taking an active part in a political campaign while on duty or within periods of time during which university employees are expected to be performing services for which he or she the employee receives compensation from the university. Further, UCF employees are prohibited from using the authority of their university position to secure support for, or oppose any candidate, party, or issue in a partisan election or affect the results of such election. Similarly, UCF employees are prohibited from using a promise of reward, or threat to encourage, and/or coerce any other University personnel to support or contribute to any political issue, candidate, or party.

Use of State Resources
Current state laws and regulations prohibit state employees from using state resources to participate in political campaigns or activities, including lobbying and political solicitation of any kind. Renting UCF facilities for campaign-related events, on the same terms available to any member of the public under applicable use policies for that facility may be permissible, provided that campaign fundraising does not occur under any circumstances.

Examples of prohibited uses of state resources would include, but not be limited to, such activities as soliciting or accepting political contributions in a UCF facility, sending out a campaign mailing using university stationery or postage purchased by the university, using the official UCF email system or e-mail list or listserv for the purpose of supporting or opposing a political candidate or ballot initiative, and using UCF equipment to copy material supporting or opposing a political candidate or ballot initiative.

Activities Potentially Perceived as Official University Endorsements
Student organizations or activity groups associated with various academic programs cannot participate in campaign activities even if participation is in-kind or reimbursed for actual expenses. For example, it is not appropriate for a UCF music group to display the UCF name while performing at a campaign rally.
Political and Campaign Activities

Candidates On Campus
Political candidates and their staff or supporters and political organizations are always welcome on campus for tours, briefings, or other related activities, but UCF will neither host nor sponsor a rally or fundraiser. Registered student organizations may invite candidates or sponsor such activities provided they follow prescribed procedure for use of university space.

The Office of Government Relations including the Student Union building, activity rooms, free assembly areas, or other public university property. The Division of University Relations is always willing to assist, as appropriate, depending upon scheduling and availability of staff and facilities, but under no circumstances is the university responsible for generating press coverage or soliciting attendance at such events.

Further guidance should be sought from the Office of the General Counsel and the Office of Government Relations.

PROCEDURES

Official University Positions
The UCF Board of Trustees has designated the president of the university as its principal spokesperson and representative on all government relations matters with all levels of government. The president may delegate this authority as appropriate. In no case shall an employee of the university formally represent the president or the Board of Trustees without prior approval and delegation by the president.

If an individual employee of the university who is not the president’s designee is invited by any government entity to make a presentation or address an issue before it, the employee shall clearly and publicly state that his or her comments are personal and participation is not intended to represent necessarily the official views or formal position of UCF, the president or the Board of Trustees. No state resources may be used to support these activities unless approved by the president or his or her designee in advance of the event.

Running for Public Office
University employees may run for public office or participate in appointed public service, but it is incumbent on the individual to demonstrate to his or her university supervisor that no conflict of interest or conflict of commitment exists. If the elected or appointed public position adversely affects the duties and responsibilities of the individual relative to the university, appropriate adjustment in compensation, length of contract, or prescribed duties shall be agreed to in writing and approved by the president or his or her.
designee. The individual's immediate supervisor is responsible for any required written forms or approvals. In situations where the individual holding or running for public office would present a conflict of interest or interfere with the full discharge of their university duties, they may be required to take a leave of absence or resign employment with the university pursuant to Regulation UCF-3.018 Conflict of Interest or Commitment; Outside Activity or Employment.
